Senior Class History

"Lives of Seniors all remind us
We should profit by example,
And departing leave behind us
Footprints no one dares to sample."

TO most of us it seems way back in the dark ages when we arrived, and yet, the fact that we did arrive is very evident—to some almost too evident. The memory of those first days is rather dim and hazy, but there were a few things that were deeply impressed on our minds. First we wandered about like lost sheep and made the usual Freshman blunders. Some timidly presented their grammar school diplomas to the principal, fearful lest admittance should be denied them. Others, trying to pass themselves off as upper classmen, promptly took possession of the nearest room (in most cases the wrong room), and were as promptly reminded that they were not branded by that ranch, but must seek other quarters. Finally with a very noticeable air of uncertainty each one reached the proper harbor, and amidst the proper signing of numerous documents and the choosing of a college which he knew nothing about, anxiously awaited the arrival of recess and the first experience with a real High School lunch. But recess brought new trials, for our enemies the Sophs were on the alert, and without any due ceremony initiated a few of our freshest, such as Smith, Ball and Lewis, with the time-honored plunge in the aquarium, and later Pirnie and several others were instructed in the art of oratory to the uproarious delight of their assembled torturers. However, we lived through it all, and the next year found us frivolous Sophomores and as enthusiastic as ever.

How proud we were to think of the rough-housing we would give the innocent freshmen and how mortified we felt upon the announcement of our principal that "all such evidences of the hoodlum element must be discontinued." But in spite of this we immediately began to show our greatness, so much so, that part of the freshmen had to be removed to an afternoon division to protect them from our ravishing clutches. Our greatness was still further exemplified by our winning the basketball championship and thus covering ourselves with imperishable glory. As Sophomores we welcomed the advent to our ranks of Smith and Graves, a pair of '05 discards. About this time quite a sensation was aroused by the arrival of Messer from Philadelphia. Messer the basketball player and jolly good fusser. It was in this year also that with much wrangling we chose our solid gold, warranted-to-impress flat irons, and filled the meetings with reports of class sleigh-ride committees and other monstrous projects that never matured.

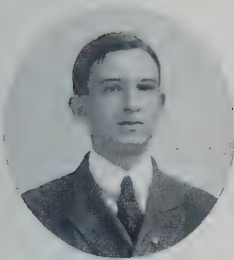

With ranks somewhat thinned of our overworked and otherwise (mostly otherwise) members, we entered upon the Junior year. How we did mourn the loss of that renowned trio, Leach, Lewis and Ball, who had fallen by the wayside and dropped back to recuperate. It was at this point that we first realized what an important factor in school life we really were. We felt positive that the school could not have existed without our presence to keep it alive and going. But for all our importance the year had few events worthy of mention. Among these few, the shining example of how a school paper should be run was exhibited in the way in which oughty-six managed the Recorder. But of course everyone knows what a huge success it was and how much ill-gotten wealth Rhodes and Medlicott derived from it at the close of the year, so we will let this subject rest in peace.

And now we are Seniors. The last round of the toilsome ladder has been reached. And what a fitting climax for an eventful history this last year has been! We truly have made an unprecedented record. We have pocketed more cash at dance and fair than any of our predecessors. We have bred more athletes (real and pseudo) for S. H. S. We have created a greater output of literary, business and scientific men. We have made trouble in room 17. However, this rowdy element can easily be traced to—but we will mention no names. Although if you are truly anxious to know just ask Miss Robertson who the guilty ones are. Bullard, Collins, Tift and Stone, and several others may also give you light upon the subject. But we are not altogether bad, for Miss Howard, our Quaker maiden, was with us, and a few others who rigorously followed the straight and narrow path. Others who have made themselves very evident among us by their various accomplishments are Miss Abigail Brownell, who, it is said, after taking an elementary course in Miss Pope's Conservatory for Instruction in Dance Cutting, has even ventured to cut a dance with Jacobian. Miss Beebe, the "mite"-be originator of all the "plots against Canadian Government" which of late have become so prevalent, has become so daring that her hand trembled but slightly when, with a sinister smile, she recklessly laid Miss Robertson's pen in the wastebasket. No photographer has been able to produce a likeness of Miss Folsom which is more beautiful than she, so she has decided not to have her picture taken. Kendrick and Collins are still the erring children of the class and Pirnie still clears his throat with the same melodious effect. There are many other notables who have made our class notorious, but we have neither time nor space to give an account of them and their doings, and I fear that in a great many cases such accounts would detract rather than add to the beauty of this record. However, for the benefit of those who are not wise, I will say that Messer & Co. have not dissolved partnership; that "Chris" Scott still has her retinue but hasn't picked yet; that Rhodes is still studying parliamentary law; that Chapin and Tift belong to the S. H. S. bowling team; that Hewes can't find anything more to learn, and in conclusion that the whole class has enjoyed its sojourn in S. H. S. and wishes the rest of the school a most fond farewell.

The Juniors

"Variety is the spice of life."

PARDON me, are you a Junior? I have the honor, sir, want some lunch tickets? I don't understand. I am a reporter for the "Alphean," and, therefore am a sport. Show me the cream of the '07 bunch. All right, we'll "skidoo" to the lawn.

What is that blood curdling sound that makes the Seniors turn so pale? Sounds like "'07 up, '07 up, '07 up." That's it sure, now you'll see the Juniors at their best. My! what a confusion of sounds. Who is that robust child with golden hair? Is he the president? He is evidently the body and soul of the conspiracy. Ha! ha! ha! you mean that Indian with the disheveled locks? Why, I am indeed surprised that you, a reporter, do not know "Fat" Glynn, right hand man of the brewery trio. Yes, he wrote "Maggie Reilley" and is shadowed only by Judson Strong, the would-be motor cyclist.

The human punching bag? Another Oriental Ruby labeled Haley. The whole thing at the indoor meet, and worth the price of admission to see him in his blanket. He has possibilities according to Pollard. Oh yes, he'll make the team in 1911. He'll be a P. G. then.

That boy with the Socrates frown is Bishop, Mormon and tack-chewer caught in the wilds of Enfield. He'd better put some "hen fruit" in his shoes and "beat it" for home.

Where did the midget get his "S"? That's not an "S," that's an "S" with an "H" in it. Stands for "S. H. S.," so he says. All that needs to be seen is the "S" you know. Pretty small "H"? Yes indeed. Should think he'd feel as small as the "H"? Oh! no, some people have nerve enough for anything.

That tall chap seems very important. I mean the one that walks in sections. Oh! Bennitt the life saver. Once, while rowing, an oar broke and the crew used him as a duplicate. "Mellens Mixtures" for his. Nuf Ced.

Good lord! Is it a skeleton? Dear no. That's Sherman Bowles. I'll admit that a snap watch has a little on him for fatness. Bottom of the pile? Well, he's always down. Studies excepted, of course. Oh! no, he never blacks his shoes. Says they look careless and nobby. Relies mostly on his face to cut a shine. Yes, some people are blind indeed.

The "bunch" of smallness is Ball. Good chorus girl as "Central." Lovely voice. An Alphean Agitator. Wasp in his dome.

Does he live in Ludlow? The one with the "Hey! Rube" look. No! No! that's "Kid" Clark, "Champeen" middle-weight of room 24 and a noted ogler. First name's "Ichabod."

Thought you were stricken blind by a stray sunbeam? Ha! Ha! Ha! Say, that's only Kingsbury's gold tooth. Wow! How he does show it. Sprinter? Yes, he "Drew" second place at the novice meet last Spring.

See, there's "Gamey" Lewis trying to be a renegade. "Tick Tack" king, future manager of "Blue Ribbon Girls."

Behind the tree, looking at the melee and taking notes, is Maynard, editor of our Recorder, a literary man of renown. Writes the pugilistic column for the War Cry.

The twins? Oh! no, they are the Wilburs, known as the "Skow-de-dums," originators of the "Kick me" fad. Brought up on D-Zerta.

One of the faculty? Oh! fumigation, no, that's Traver of Greenfield. They built him in a stall and enlarged the lunch counter since his debut. Good man for football? Never! The Cruelty to Animals society would never permit it. If he slipped and fell in the hall the "Brockton Explosion" would be a back number.

Who! The one that just yelled gug-o tut-o hash-ee lell-square down the hall? That's "Dutch" Winter, the hardest worked loafer in school. What language? Oh, that's Beckettian, means,—"I thank you from the depths of my heart." Very polite language, Beckettian? Yes, very.

Scarecrow in the Wizard of Oz? Why, man, you are mistaken, that's "Ches" Woods, who is to be a policeman some day if he doesn't fall apart before then.

The religious looking youth is "Hen" Wriston, author of "Lead Kindly Light," "Coax Me," and "Rous Mit Em."

Hopkins? Popular? Yes, indeed. Invented the first Benzine Buggy in this country. Can he prove it? Don't have to, he admits it.

That lean, lanky chap? Oh, to be sure, that's Curley. Yes, Dr. Osler is expected to administer the dope soon.

There goes the bell, but no one seems to mind it. But show me your President and the members of the fair sex. There, see that blonde over there with the "Polish" necktie? Well, that's Prexy "Lengthy" on the ball field. Giles in affairs of State. Get a good look, as he is not expected to survive his terrific ordeal in drawing up the S. H. S. constitution. The fair sex? How forgetful! Well, newsy, look around. Every good-looking girl label a Junior and you'll not come far from taking the palm. That noise like a road roller? Oh, '07 could get no opposition in the yard, so they are practicing on Donovan and the other umbrella stands.

Here's "Jim" Smith, must be pretty late. He must be coming from the office. What's that he's muttering? Sounds like "23." That's it all right. Good many "23's."

I must "beat it" Mr. Junior, as the PNYX will probably have this article first after all my trouble. I am certainly indebted to you, and will head my write-up with the revised words of Caesar which will exactly describe my visit to the Juniors—"Veni, Vidi, Vincor." Duck!

Sophomore History

[Extract from the New York Minutely Herald of 5973.]

PROFESSOR Digemup of the antiquarian firm of Digemup & Sellem, one of the first firms to enter the recently organized Diluvian Discoveries Combine, capitalized at $500,000,000.00, has made some very interesting discoveries in Ward 93, Section 412, of Borough K, one of the easterly boroughs of the city. Working at the corner of Y-59738th St., and H-291st Ave., some marvelous remains were unearthed. During the excavations for the new 24th level subway, some miliographs of which are shown on page 566 of this issue, a curious little building, only four stories high, was disinterred. When some broken stones that were found near the entrance to this hut were pieced together, the following letters resulted:

SP I LD H GH S OL

Within the building, which is assumed to be a relic of the Rooseveltian or Big Stick age, were found the tracks, remains and implements of many ancient creatures, some of which are entirely new to the investigators, while others belong to the well-known, though largely extinct species. Just inside the door, and surrounded by several hundred rusty and broken fencing foils was found a skeleton of the Wilkinsonia family a rare variety, noted for its habit of sleeping fourteen hours a night. A specimen of a kindred genus, the Royceian, whose chief characteristic is that of sleeping twenty-six hours of the twenty-four, was also discovered.

One remarkable creature, whose legs resembled a giraffe's, and whose trunk was similar to that of a Dachshund, at first caused the learned professor some trouble, it being impossible to say whether it belonged to the Beckwitheolus or the Rodsmithuridae, but when Dr. V. V. Sectem declared that the cranium had expanded three sizes in a single night, its connection with the Beckwitheolus genus was proved. Dr. Will U. Pheelem, the famous bump expert and inventor of the painless bump-the-bumps at Coney Island, recognized the Dibblopeda and Guildibrancii, two rare genera of the curiosa family, by the bumps of inquisitiveness, which in these specimens reached seven and three-quarters inches. The Doctor was also greatly struck by a specimen of the Stonereis, whose bump of Interest-infemina he pronounced the largest he had ever seen. This bump was also abnormally developed in a specimen of the Winslowviae found near by.

A little digging near the cash drawer in the basement brought to light the remains of the biped Schlesinger, a creature almost human. The right paw was tightly clasped around some object, and when the fingers had been laboriously plied apart with a crowbar, the object was found to be an old ten cent piece.

Among the more common species were those of the Bailypede, the Caseipoles, and the Wrightcarpi, three creatures analogous to the bee tribe, both in the habit of buzzing and the utilization of male attendants.

The afore-mentioned Dibblopeda was by far the rarest specimen in this valuable collection, and is best described in the professor's own words: "After some study I have classed this with the Balangossus Intodermia. In this specimen the ciliated embryonic gastrula encircles the involution of the parietal blastoderm, which restricts the deuterostomatus mesoblast to the perivisceral or pleuroperitoneal ectosarc. It is, however, schizocelous, but the pelvic olecranon exceeds the arbuscularflabelleform." This description seems to us so accurate that further comment is needless.

Post Graduates

Talk about your easy life,
There's nothing like it;
Talk about your lack of strife,
Why, they enjoy it;
They have time to burn and more
Than the allotted twenty-four,
It's enough to make a Senior sore
To think about it.

FOOTBALL TEAM, 1905

Football

Whenever a Springfield High School team defeats Holyoke, that team is a success. Although unable to maintain the high standard set by the eleven of 1904, the football team played a successful season, facing stronger teams than have ever been met in previous years. Mr. Pollard showed his usual ability as a coach and it was in no small measure due to the work of Mr. Kane that the line were able to hold Westminster in the final game. Littlefield deserves particular mention for the accuracy of his goal kicking, which won two games that would otherwise have been tied.

The following is the line-up:

Left End RHODES, '06	Right End LOMBARD '06, REILLEY, '06
Left Tackle HOWARD, '05	Right Tackle WRIGHT, '07, CASE '08
Left Guard GLYNN, '07, STRONG, '07	Right Guard DAVIDSON, '08

Left Half LITTLEFIELD, '08	Right Half SMITH, '07, ELLIS, '06

The Crew

Each year we have a faster crew than the year before and each year the interest in this branch of athletics grows proportionately until now there is a stronger competition for a seat in the second eight than for a place on the first football team. Two years ago the first crew showed itself superior to any crew on the river, and last year, by defeating the crack eight of the Riverside Boat Club of Boston in the annual Fourth of July regatta of the New England Amateur Rowing Association they won the title Champions of New England in the Intermediate Class. This result was partly because every man showed up at practice every day and was also in a large amount due to the hard work of Coach John Joyce, who gave all his spare time to the crew during the season. This year five of last year's crew are again back, and a race with the Yale freshmen seems assured. We wish Capt. Chisholm the best of success for the season of 1906.

BASEBALL TEAM, 1906

Baseball

The Baseball Season opened with the largest number of candidates in the history of the school trying for the various positions. Great things were expected of the team and by the hardest kind of work under the direction of Coach Roy A. Kane, the nine established a new record in S. H. S. athletic circles by defeating the crack Training School team on the latter's field 17-10 in a rattling ten inning game. Even the team's most ardent admirers received a pleasant surprise when our nine on its Connecticut trip defeated both the Ridge and Gunnery Prep. school teams in two hard-fought games. Judging from the article of ball that our team puts up away from home the most successful season in the history of S. H. S. is looked for. The team was fortunate in having the veterans, Giles, Doubleday and Graves to hold down the bases, Capt. Crowther for pitch and Samble and Messer for the outfield. Duggan at short, Winitzky at center, Mayforth at catch and Gerrard at pitch are the new men and are playing fine ball. Manager Giles has arranged a fine schedule and it is without doubt the hardest and most ambitious one the ball team has ever had, as the team will continually go out of its class. The team:

BASKETBALL TEAM, 1905-1906

Basketball

Although our basketball team showed some signs of overwork near the end of the season, on the whole the team did remarkably well. It was the first team to defeat both Dorchester and Melrose High Schools on the annual Boston trip, which made up in part for the defeat at the hands of Holyoke. All the home games were well attended, a fact which helped not a little in urging the team to do its best.

Of the whole twenty-three games played, seventeen were won and only six were lost, which shows especially good work. Seven hundred thirty points were made to our opponent's four hundred forty-eight. Team play was always predominant and no one can be picked out as doing far better work than another.

Robertson, who played left forward, was elected captain for next year.

HOCKEY TEAM, 1906

Hockey

Our hockey team, in spite of its record of nothing but defeats, really deserves more credit than has been accorded it by the school in general. Considering the many difficulties which it was forced to encounter throughout the season, the team has made a very favorable showing. Poor ice, no coaching, lack of good material to select from, a very stiff schedule, comprising games with Pomfret, Tafts and other well-seasoned teams, all these difficulties had to be contended with to keep the team running.

Of last year's men, only Capt. Pierce and Tifft remained. All the other positions had to be filled from raw material, and in general the new men played their places very well. To Davidson belongs the honor of scoring the only goal of the season.

Let us hope that next winter will bring out a winning team, unhampered by any such troubles as were encountered this year.

FENCING TEAM, 1906

Fencing

The Fencing Team this year was handicapped by not having the services of Mr. Neaubaur and also by a lack of practice. Although defeated in both matches, it did remarkably well, as the small margin of its defeat in each case shows.

TRACK TEAM, 1905

Track

Although our track team did not maintain the precedent of capturing both the Wesleyan and Amherst meets, nevertheless it made a very creditable showing last season. The loss of the Wesleyan meet may be partly attributed to the fact that our team was composed entirely of novices, with the exception of Capt. Stock, who was the only man that went to Middletown the year before. That the meet was in every sense a strenuous one, is shown by the number of records that were smashed, seven in all, some of which will probably stand a long time. Considering that this was the first chance for the majority of the team and also that Hartford and Hackettstown proved unusually strong competitors, S. H. S. may be partly excusable for this defeat.

At Amherst the team upheld our reputation in fine style by winning the W. M. I. A. A. meet for the fifth successive time. S. H. S. scored 61 points which was a lead of 10 over Holyoke, our nearest rival. Capt. Stock broke two records of the association in the 120 and 220-hurdles, and Kingsbury also took the dashes in record time.

Although Springfield was represented by but one man at the annual N. E. I. A. A. meet held on Harvard field last year, yet we tied for fifth place. Our representative, Capt. Stock, won second place in the low hurdles and third in the high hurdles.

With good material for this season backed by the training and experience of this winter's indoor practice and the annual indoor meet at which we made such a triumph, S. H. S. should be represented by a winning team this year

The Indoor Meet

On the evening of March seventeenth we won the Fourth Annual Indoor Meet, our third successive victory. It almost seems a shame for us to give an indoor meet, provide prizes, and then win them all, or at least most of them, ourselves. However, this seems to be the case.

Three schools, Hartford, Holyoke and Amherst, were represented besides our own, Holyoke making the largest number of entries. At first the outlook was rather gloomy for Springfield, but when it came to the potato race and pole vault, enough points were scored to make us feel more than safe. The highest individual score was made by Hasbrooke of Amherst, who scored all of his team's points. Hasbrooke also made a new record for the high jump, placing the mark at five feet eight inches.

After the events had been run off, Mr. Orr made a short speech and presented the medals and banner. Then came the basketball game between the Seniors and Freshmen for the interclass championship, which the Seniors easily won by a score of 19-6.

Scholarships

An Offer to Girls of a Scholarship by the College Club, Springfield, Massachusetts

The College Club offers an annual gift of $200, payable in two installments, September 1 and February 1. A Scholarship will be awarded only to a girl who is in special need of such assistance.

The College Club wants the privilege of giving this help to a girl of the good home-loving and home-making sort, with common sense, resource, initiative and persistence. She must have good health. She must rank well in scholarship, but it is quite as important that she have tact and sympathy and some germ of leadership and humanity.

Applications for this year's Scholarship must be in the hands of the Secretary of the Scholarship Committee of the College Club by May 1. The candidate shall make a written application, giving three references, one of whom shall be the Principal of her School, and the others, instructors. Should the prospective holder of the Scholarship wish to retain it another year, she must make application before March 1, 1906.

A notice of the decision of the Committee will be sent to each candidate by June 1, of each year, except in case of reappointment, when notice of the same will sent to the Principals of the schools interested, by March 15 of that year.

The Scholarship Committee

LEONA MAY PEIRCE, Secretary,
247 Union St., Springfield, Mass
ELLEN C. HINSDALE
ELVA H. YOUNG
JEANNETTE G. APPLETON
CAROLYN D. DOGGETT, member ex-officio

This Scholarship was last year awarded to Miss Helma C. Carlson.

The William Rice Scholarship

The authorities of Wesleyan University have offered two Scholarships, each of $200, to pupils entering Wesleyan from the Central High School. One is to be awarded every two years. The awarding of the Scholarship is left entirely to the Faculty of the High School. Each Scholarship covers the entire expense of tuition for the four years' course at the University. The first was awarded to John Barwis Vanhorn, of the Class of 1904. The second will be awarded this year, and in 1908 the first will again be available.

New York University Scholarships

New York University offers two Scholarships each year, one of $400, covering a four years' course in the College of Arts and Sciences, and one of $100 for one year in the School of Applied Science. The choice of the candidate is left to the Faculty, with the provision that the pupil be in the first third of the graduating class. Last year the first of these was awarded to Nathaniel M. Hurwitz, but the second was not applied for.

International Peace Essay Prize Competition

At the time of the International Peace Congress at Boston the Springfield Board of Trade took up the idea of offering prizes for the best essays on the general subject of international peace. The Board of Trade appointed a committee to arrange for the offering of two prizes for the best essays, the first of twenty dollars, and the second of ten dollars. The competition was made open only to Seniors of the Springfield High Schools. The committee appointed, consisting of W. G. Wheat, W. W. McClench, and O. H. Merrick, decided upon the following terms for the contest:

1. Essays not to exceed fifteen hundred words and not to be less than one thousand words.
2. The subjects of which choice must be made to be announced November 15, 1905, and essays due January 15, 1906.
3. Competitors to be allowed to consult friends or teachers in regard to authorities, but work of composition to be done entirely without assistance.
4. A special list of reference books and magazine articles to be furnished by the City Library authorities.
5. In deciding on merits of essays submitted, account to be taken of form, including spelling and arrangement of material, subject matter, and the ability shown in presenting facts and conclusions clearly and forcibly.

The committee upon subjects consisting of Rev. P. S. Moxom, Samuel Bowles, and Principal William Orr, selected the following:

History of International Arbitration.

The Hague Tribunal.

Economic Reasons for the Abolition of War.

Moral Reasons for the Abolition of War.

How May the United States Best Promote International Peace?

Seven essays were submitted, the merits of which were decided upon by a committee consisting of Prof. Anson D. Morse of the Department of History, Amherst College; Prof. James W. Crook of the Department of Economics and Prof. George B. Churchill of the Department of English Literature. All seven essays were highly complimented by this committee, as was the Board of Trade for the wisdom of its enterprise.

Of the seven, Stanley E. Howard, '06, won first prize and Bertha J. Howard, '06, won the second prize. Ethel B. Pierce, '06, and Elizabeth A. Leary, '06, received honorable mention.

The Senior Fair

For the third time the Seniors have held a fair and have succeeded in making the other classes pay their expenses, without greatly displeasing their victims. This time 1906 received the benefits, after having twice furnished them.

The fair was held in the Girl's gymnasium, which was filled with pretty booths and each booth was filled with attractive articles as well as pretty girls. In the gymnasium were the candy, cake, souvenir, fancy goods, silhouette and grocery tables, while just outside were the shooting gallery, grab bag and refreshments.

The chief attraction for the first night was the presentation of a four act playlet "From the West" which was very well given, Miss Chapin taking her part especially well. All the articles which were not sold on the first night went at auction on the second. Mr. Robertson was auctioneer and it is safe to say that he was a good one. Then came the dancing which might better have been called corn husking, but as no one was seriously hurt, the fair may be called a complete success.

The total profits were about two hundred and twenty-five dollars.

The cast for the play was:

CLARKE VAN BUREN, a girl from the west	.	MISS ELIZABETH CHAPIN

NEVER RECOVER

S. H. S. 4 A. M. (Special to the Pickaxe)

It is greatly feared that the "Recorder" may never recover from its present sad state. Although two nurses and four doctors are constantly attending the patient yet they can do but little. Its supporting qualities are very weak. This has undoubtedly been caused by overwork. We regret to see so important a factor in the school life failing so rapidly. A trip to the south has been highly recommended but the patient is in such a low condition that now this would only result in a complete disaster. Notwithstanding this sad news, let us hope for the best.

New Organization THE ART CLUB

Our esteemed fellow citizen, Ralph Fuller Mulligan, who has found Art Talks under Mr. Daniels altogether too elementary for his genius, has organized "The Art Club." The officers are representatives from the swellest society of the city and are as follows: President, Ralph F. Mulligan; Vice-President, R. Fuller Mulligan; Secretary and Treasurer, R. F. Mulligan. Meetings will be held on the second Friday of each week, and the schedule of speakers has already been partially arranged. The following eminent gentlemen, each an artist in his own line, will address the club under the general title of "Elementary Points in Drawing:

A New Scholarship

The faculty of the school announce the following scholarship:

The Nollge Club offers an annual sinecure of thirty cents, to be awarded, in yearly payments, only to one who has died of want at least once. The Nollge club wishes to help a girl of well-to-do but honest parents, sensible, careful, vigilant, discreet, respectful, quiet, thoughtful, considerate, shrewd and diligent. She must be four feet seven and two thirds inches in height, wear a number two shoe, and weigh one hundred fifty two and five tenths pounds. She must be exactly sixteen years old. All applicants for this scholarship may send their age, height and waist measure in metric units to the committee on or before June 32 and will receive in return one package of Peruna with directions for further procedure.

The ORRacle SPEAKS

Rules of the School

Of general interest to all, comes the announcement that this much-heralded but never-seen publication has at last appeared. It is edited by William Orr, Esq., who has made an exhaustive study of the matter, has delved into the archives of the school, and now presents these ordinances by which the Orr-kids are in the future to be governed. The book was supposedly up-to-date when sent to the publishers, but the necessity of governing Stone, Anderson, Hewes, Medlicott, Miss Scott, Miss Ladd and others has led to an addenda.

This department of the work is from the pen of Miss Robertson, and consists of a set of entirely new laws which have originated in her mathematical mind. These "addenda" have added greatly to the value of the book.

A few of the important regulations follow:

Article 767, Sec. 1. Any pupil arriving at recitation after the time when the bell does not ring shall study in the library the rest of the period. Note—This rule does not apply to Senior English.

From the "Addenda."

Rule 1. Any pupil or pupils feeling in his, her or their instinct, brain, mind, intellect, understanding, wits, soul, breast, nerves, heart, or any other part, piece or portion of his, her or their anatomy, that he, she or they are thinking, meditating, contemplating, designing, aiming, proposing or expecting to communicate, converse, confer or hold discourse with any other person, persons or things, masculine, feminine or neuter in or outside of Room 17 by talking, whispering, writing, printing or signs; or any pupil or pupils performing any such act or acts shall remain for a space of twenty minutes in his, her or their seat or seats.

The Pickaxe

Mr. Russell says that when Beckwith stops growing he will get some brains. Better start raising the doors now, they are only about seven feet high and Beckwith is but a Sophomore.

We are told that the plan of the Harvard exams has been changed.
We have not, however, heard of any change in the Harvard method of putting down marks.

How much better it would be if some persons used their brains to the right end. If the authors of the misplaced brilliancy displayed on the boards in room 17, would drop it into the Recorder box, it would be a much greater benefit to the Recorder, themselves, and the school. But wait for the class prophecies.

We learn that Chauncey Lewis would like to know what good Geometry will do him in the world to come. If by this phrase "world to come" he refers to his life after leaving school, we would suggest that he first learn Axiom 1 before asking questions; but if he refers to a more common usage of the phrase, if he will remember that geometry is a branch of mathematics,

the cold and calculating science,
he will have no difficulty in seeing its advantages.

Class Spirit

While a cursory glance at our heading might easily lead the reader to expect a plain obituary, we consider class Spirit rather personally evanescent than collectively deceased. That Class Spirit is in some persons as defunct as the proverbial door nail, we freely admit, and we hope that the classes which follow will be freer from these persons than is 1906. There are too many who are only too ready to depreciate everything in the class, from the pulchritude of her maidens to the prowess of her athletic teams; and fail to discriminate entirely between the conditions for which the class is responsible and those for which she is not. There is no recipe for Class Spirit, but we would suggest that those who wish their names to go down to forthcoming ages as most saturated with it, carefully model their conduct on the example set them by Ross and Hewes, and then the desired result will doubtless be attained.

Tainted Athletics

A marked copy of the "Pawtunk Medical Examiner" has reached us, containing the following slanderous assertion:

"We regret to note that the athletic abuses already prevalent in our colleges have extended to the secondary schools."

Heretofore we have not animadverted upon this preposterous subject, but now we feel it our sacred duty to refute any such allegation, and feel sure that the Springfield High School athletics have always been kept thoroughly fumigated. Scattered rumors have at various times assaulted our tympana to the effect that one of our most puissant and adamantine athletes, "Pop" Howard, has received his tuition free in return for his manifold services to our basketball team. We believe that we can close this topic with a simple denial both of this report and of one of like nature concerning Haley's remuneration in plugged nickels for his untiring devotion to the ultimate success of the crew.

The Curse of The Railroad Rebate

At the last regular meeting of the Lycenate, the following resolutions were adopted: "Whereas, we,
the most representative organization of the Springfield High School, consider that the Carticket Bill in its present form does abound, abut, and infringe on our rights as citizens of the Springfield High School, we hereby aver and resolve, that, unless this bill be immediately repealed, we will hereafter refuse to sanction
the legality of this blue pasteboard and pay our fares with U. S. legal tender instead of that of the company."

This action shows great public spiritedness on the part of the members of the Lycenate, and it will undoubtedly be a great loss to the company to be forced to accept government coin instead of their own paper substitute.

NEWS IN BRIEF

For some unknown reason no erasers could be found in Room 17 yesterday. As a result, Anderson and Hewes were obliged to erase the board with their overcoats.

Beckwith, '08 will accompany an Amherst professor to Africa this summer, to search for the missing link. His kit will include many implements useful in the search, especially a great variety of mirrors.

The post-recess meetings in the Senior corner will be discontinued at the end of June. These meetings have been held regularly since September and the variety of style with which Mr. Tuckerman has treated his subject has been a source of pleasure to all who have attended.

The Right Rev. Stanley Howard delivered to an appreciative audience at the Y. M. C. A. last evening his well-known address. "Hell, It's significance today." "I'll be there, mother, when my work is o'er" was later pathetically rendered by the famous basso, F. A. Schlesinger. The entertainment was very enjoyable.

"For five years I have used the TIFFT method of preparation for college and have found it very practical."

Si Kempton has painted his fence green.

Miss Sarah Allen gave a very pretty little birthday party at her home yesterday to celebrate the sixteenth anniversary of her birth. Among the guests were Miss Mabel Allen of this town, the Misses Gwendolen and Bridget Allen of Pecousic Corners and Miss Allen of Feeding Hills. Mr. Medlicott came as a clown.

Everyone will be interested to hear that our fellow townsman, William B. Tabor, is doing so well in the city. He is received everywhere in the very best society.

Owing to a blister on his toe, Robert Medlicott was unable to milk the cow this morning.

W. S. C. Russell bears his years well.

Although W. S. C. Russell, A.B., M.A., head of the Science Dept. refused to divulge his age to a Pickaxe reporter, it is suspected that he will celebrate his eightieth birthday soon. He is still bright and chipper, and it is only the stray pieces of information disclosing the variety of his accomplishments that have betrayed his advanced years. Mr. Russell has given the best years of his life to the advancement of science. His reticence prevents our giving a full account of his work, but we can give an intelligent reader some idea of his activity. He taught English two years, and spent four years on the study of Water Analysis. For three months he worked day and night on the study of solutions and for the last twelve years he has been teaching chemistry and other branches of science. Besides all this, he was four years with a Boston chemical firm, where he invented the famous counterfeit barometer, so common in the laboratories today.

Refuses to Talk Smith Silent

H. William Smith, when interviewed yesterday by a Pickaxe reporter, would neither deny nor affirm the report that he had been appointed "school captain." We regret to report that Mr. Smith looked quite thin and wan, the arduous task of running the school undoubtedly telling on him. In conversation, Mr. Smith stated that he wished it especially understood that the College Algebra class was doing "second year college work," but beyond that he had no statement to make.

DEBATE The Matter Settled

At an interesting meeting of the "Debate" the following subject was very interestingly disguised:—Resolved "That the studies take too much time from athletics." The affirmative was very weakly strengthened by Joseph M. Ross, '06, F. Leland Hewes, '06 and Stanley Howard, '06, while the negative easily won with "Ted" Smith at its head, for he easily proved by his experience that its studies had never taken any time from its athletics. The result of this debate is very encouraging as the matter has of late been troubling many.

Why Messer resigned as cheering leader last fall.

If those ices charged to Miss Beebe, Sept. 19, have been paid for yet.

Why Winter, '07, doesn't like the "Dutch" treat system.

How Tift, '06, happens to be allowed out after dark without a nurse, anyway.

Why Shakespeare didn't consult Miss Belden before he wrote.

Why all the athletes go to Technical High.

If there is any seat in any theatre in which Mulligan, '06, hasn't sat.

Why Winter, '07 worked so hard for the success of the Senior Class Play.

If we will have any friends after this book comes out.

Things we are paid to tell

That Dibble, '08 is still soliciting a chance to enter society.

That Howard, '06 would have bought a ticket to the Holyoke basketball game if he had been in town.

That Kingsbury, '07 is not married.

That Miss Burke, '06 had a "simply delightful" time at the Glee Club Assembly.

That Manager John Wilbur is not making any money on the Recorder.
And therefore the staff need not expect any.

That Beckwith, '08 and Duckworth, '07 must be twins, because it is said that some people take one for the other.

That Mr. Tuckerman's first period Singen Fests are a great success.

That Bishop is getting more and more like Socrates.

That "Sap" Chapin, '06 is now as popular as Hopkins.

That Lewis, '07 is still the star of the Senior English class.

That "Billy" Chapin is a jokist.

That there are five Tongs—now for a Ting.

That Smith, '06 is the speaker of the Senate.

That "Chris" Scott enjoyed the Gamma Dramatics.

But she will also enjoy the prom.

That Winitzky, '07 is a basketball player.

That Giles, '07 is moving.

That Thomas, '07 is out for the mile and ought to make good.

For he certainly has the wind.

Things We Are Paid Not to Tell

---

How Tift lost $2.50 after the Brown-Dartmouth football game.

That "Bant" Robertson is not a P. G.

That Miss Denman isn't one either.

That the Mandolin Club is a bunch of "money-grabbers."

What became of Giles' stick-pin out at Wilbraham.

That the Minstrel Show might have been a success even without Norton.

That Mills is repeating "catch-me-Charlie" in his sleep.

That Rising's joke book is making a great hit with the girls.

How, when and where "Lem" Clark enjoyed the Highland Baptist conflagration.

That Bill does not believe in Unions. Wherefore the Union has no use for Bill.

That Allan G. Orr takes after his father.

That Pirnie, '06 has mastered the art of driving with one hand (or with his teeth).

That Miss Scott, '07 is interested in aquatics, enough to hold the medals.

That Miss Hixon, '07 lives in the library.

That Miss Converse, '07 enjoys Sunday perambulations.

That we'd like to knock Collins and Curlev, but

That Miss Robertson has exhausted the subject.

That the rest of this column is unprintable.

“How the Kappa Annual is Made Now”

Ab. idged from the manuscript of an old play and modified to suit modern conditions.

SCENE: Room containing two tables, five chairs and seven cuspidors. Woods, '07, Graves, '06, and Bowles, '07 seated around a table.

WOODS: “Got that Athletic write-up?”

GRAVES: “No, Pepper said he wouldn't have it done till Monday.”

WOODS: “Here's a poem I wrote. What do you think of it?” (Reads.)

“If I but in the Senate was
I'd be a great debater
Maybe as great as Billy Smith
Or even ——— greater.”

“Mighty good, eh. What's a word to go in before ‘greater’?”

BOWLES: “Well, leave it blank. That's kind of original.”

(Enter Howe.)

HOWE: “Say, how can we get a copy of the Senior class picture if they don't have one taken?”

(Enter Brewer Corcoran with a pile of papers.)

CORCORAN: “Here are those editorials and ten pages of grinds. You can insert the names of the fellows in the blank spaces.” (Sits down at other table.)

HOWE: “How can I get that Senior Class Picture?”

WOODS: “Here's a grind that would go well on Ellis. Only, I'm afraid they wouldn't see the point—I have it, put it this way. Ellis is a ——— fool. Ha, ha!”

REST OF BOARD: “Ha, ha, ha, ha! Good joke, ha, ha!”

BOWLES: “I can't think of anything. Let's go down to the Brunswick Alleys.”

GRAVES: “All right, come on.”

(Exit Graves and Bowles. Woods and Howe fall asleep. Enter George Woods.)

GEORGE WOODS: “Here are your class histories and eight pages of grinds. Bob Cook says the drawings will be finished next week.”

CORCORAN (rising): “Well, the dedication is done. Are you sure the Recorder had those directories right?”

WOODS: “Sure, they're good enough.”

HOWE: “Well, say, how are we going to get that picture?”

Curtain.

A Dream

---

I had returned from the circus and wearily seated myself, trying to conjure in my tired brain an appropriate write-up for the hockey team, when suddenly there rose before me a gigantic head, which I recognized as that of 'Gene Davidson. It grew and grew and finally I stepped into the open mouth and found myself in a vast open space. On my right loomed up a sign "Lombard Brothers—World's Greatest Woes," and everywhere the air was filled with a jargon which was both familiar and strange. "Ice cold lem'nade" "Peanuta five-a-bag-a." "This way, ladies and gem'men and see Miss Mildred Jones, the human phonograph, now about to perform her wonderful vivisection act, the uniquely clever feat of going away and leaving her tongue running." "Only ten cents, ladies, and you may step inside and see Miss Londergan, the armless pianist who plays entirely by ear, and Insect Howe, the elongated wonder, for-ty weeks from his book to his brain and thir-ty seven from his brain to his pencil. Next on the list of freaks is Haley, the wild man, for six-ty days and nine-ty seven nights they chased him over the fastnesses of the Caucasus and they haven't caught him yet. Step right in, and you will see these, together with many other remarkable ——" "This way to the hig show." "Here's where you buy your peanuts for Glynn, Traver and Pirnie." "Here we have him, a real live hero, Davidson, fresh from the hockey team and waiting for his twin with the Carnegie fund. Come one, come all!"

I stepped within the door, and there, across a brilliantly lighted tent, I saw Messer, alone. Then I knew that I was surely dreaming and quietly awoke.

The Pnyx Curiosity Shop

After much time and thought have been spent on an exhaustive study of the field of curiosities, the following very rare specimens we have deemed worthy of a place in our most exclusive catalog of the world's most precious valuables.

I. S. H. S. BOWLING TEAM SUMMARY. A very brief record consisting chiefly of "Tiffit had an off night." Very curious. Found in the Daily News Sunday Supplement.

II. THE SCOTT HEART. At first supposed to be a flint arrow head. Not broken, but many small pieces have apparently been chipped off. Now in the Smith Memorial Museum.

III. THE SOMNAMBULIST. At first it was decided to debar all types of art from this collection, but this masterpiece bears such a striking resemblance to Woods, '07 that the original plan was defeated by a unanimous vote. At the Natural Beauty Hall.

IV. A PIECE OF ANDERSON'S WIT. An exceeding curious particle having a very singular resemblance to a half-burnt snap match, from which the snap has evidently been missing for some time. Very interesting. Now in the Egyptian Museum of Ancient Antiquities.

V. RANNENBERG'S ATTENDANCE RECORD. The most unique record of any kind in existence. Much discussion has arisen in mathematical circles as to why it should not be called "Rannenberg's Absence Record." This exceedingly ambiguous curio is now in the African Museum of Fitz and Startz.

VI. STONE'S COLLECTION. This collection of socks and neckties is the most varied in the world, containing not only the colors of the spectrum, but many others besides. Socks No. 23 can be heard at a distance of seventeen miles. Now in the wash.

VII. THE AMHERST CUP. This much unheard-of curio, unearthed from impenetrable clouds of dust, was at first supposed to be of heavenly origin, but on being polished the name A. R. Robertson shone forth and that theory was absolutely reversed. Now in Disuse.

VIII. A 1906 BILL. It was decided to always keep the Bill of the latest issue in view. This one is of especial interest for many reasons. One of the main ones is that it has greatly helped in proving that old rule that "Money talks." In the Bank.

Used for the One Thousandth Time

"I want to see the wheels go 'round." DIBBLE, '08

"A thing of beauty and a jaw forever." MISS BIGELOW, '07

"Sleepy Hollow." WHARFIELD, '08

"With the jaw-bone of an ass have I slain ten thousand." BILL, '06

"I have a good eye, uncle, I can see a church by daylight." DUCKWORTH, '07

"I'm fond o' the bards of every age
Of every clime and condition
But the poems that stir my inmost soul
Are those of my own composition." HALEY, '07

"Vanity, Vanity, all is Vanity." KINGSBURY, '07

"There are three kinds of lies;—
Lies, damn lies, and statistics." CREW WEIGHTS

"Oh, how regardless of their doom,
The little urchins play.
No sense have they of ills to come,
No care beyond today." 1909

The symbol of Christian chivalry,
Kind and generous and just to her. MESSER, '06

He has done the work of a true man,
Crown him, honor him, praise him. LEWIS, '07

High School Records

---

120 HUDDLES. Time 17 m. 2 3-5 sec. Holder, ROY P. WILLIAMS, '06

It is well known that the census holds the record in this event, embracing 50,000,000 women annually, but Roy is unsurpassed with small figures and has captured the event by a margin of many seconds.

220 HUDDLES. Time 30 m. Holder, THEO. R. SMITH, '07

Theodore's better staying qualities and all around ability have here stood him in good stead and have enabled him to defeat Roy in this event.

STANDING HIGH MARK. Height A+. Holder, J. M. ROSS, '06

Ross has achieved his success in this event by constant practice and regular hours. He presents himself at the trial meets, held every morning, never later than 7.30. These exemplary habits freshmen would do well to imitate.

TROTTING HIGH MARK. Height C-. Holder, C. TIFFT, '06

Tift won this distinction only after a close contest with Ball, '07, but experience finally fooled the best teacher.

THROWING THE BLUFF. Holder, TIFFT, '06

Though no records have been kept in this event, Tift is again alone at least in his success if not in his class. The team will lose a mighty point winner when this man graduates.

PUTTING THE LUNCH.

Although many in the school have undoubtedly felt the desire to enter this event, none of the candidates have reported for regular practice and so there are no public records.

RELAY TEAM. One page of Cicero in 10 m.

Tift, '06, Graves, '06, Hopkins, '07 and Stone, '06. All four are experienced men.

The Classes

1906

We're a mighty class, we know it;
We're a mighty class, we show it;
We're a mighty class, you know it;
And we have figured that it
Counts for us and not for you.

We have many worthy men,
Such as R. F. Mulligan;
Theodore Smith, now back again,
For if him we ever missed,
We might just as well desist.

We've Bill Smith, the famous fusser
And Tift, the noted rusher,
Also ———, alias Messer.
Which of these three would you choose,
If you had a lot to lose?

In a literary way,
It's with ease we hold the sway,
And in regard to this we'll say
That we've Medlicott and Bill,
Who write stories (?) at their will.

If it's athletes you are seeking,
Then of Reilley we are speaking,
With such as he we're reeking,
For there's Messer, Rhodes and Bullard,
Bowers, Graves and Kendrick, too.

But to give the other places,
And not win all the races,
We will now withdraw our faces,
Going back midst public smothers,
Giving up our place to others.

1907

We're a medium class, we know it;
We're a medium class, we show it;
We're a medium class, you know it;
And we wish you didn't too,
For now we can't bluff you.

But as you perceive, we're coming,
Although none of us are running.
Yet, when it comes to summing
Up a list of famous men,
We can almost take first then.

For we made our greatest haul,
When we got Lewis, Leach and Ball,
Encored by faculty last fall.
They are bound to become great,
Unless their paths are crossed by fate.

Then we've Giles, our president,
And Lincoln, whose intent,
Youthful face is always bent
On some weighty proposition,
About solid or sedition.

But come to those, who've won their name,
Such as Kingsbury steeped in fame,
Maynard and Wilbur, who do claim,
That the Recorder's greatest year
Is that in which they appear.

We've still others on the shoals,
Such as Hopkins, Woods, and Bowles;
Let us hope they reach their goals, (gaols)
And though some think that they ought
There are many who think not.

1908

We're a rotten class, we know it;
We're a rotten class, we know it;
We're a rotten class, we know it;
And so we have figured that it;
Makes no difference what we do.

Still, we claim some adoration,
 'Midst the classes of this nation,
 And our proof of rank and station
 Is, the wind would ne'er be blowing
 Unless Guild's mouth kept on going.

There is not a lot to say
 Concerning us in any way,
 But may few forget the day
 When the emblem of this class
 Was chosen by an unruly mass.

Then our haughty president
 Lost his head and to us sent Messages that were not meant
 To sooth a man, or make him docile,
 For we are young, and not old fossil.

For, smiting the table with his paw,
 Quoth he, "My word is law.
 Mr. Bellamy, close your jaw."
 But we disagreed with him
 And did set his mind in swim.

But there's one spot in our career
 That to us will e'er be dear,
 We won one championship this year.
 You all know football is a shame
 And we're wizards at the game.

 And here we beg to close,
 Lest our verse turn into prose.

An Algebra Exam

I reached the room with jaunty air,
Face wreathed in smiles and free from care,
Examples done and answers there.
These are the words that greet my ear:
"A short exam—these questions here"
Blasting my hopes, inciting fear.
At last I settle down to think,
I rack my brain and spill my ink.
The figures dance upon the sheet,
First they advance and then retreat.
The first example I can't do
So pass it by and take up two.
I work it through, of course it's long,
I finish it but know it's wrong,
I wildly hunt for my mistake;
Can't find it, so the next one take.
A problem this—of A and B—
Who many things do foolishly.
Now what shall  $x$  here represent?
A's miles per hour, or B's per cent?
Or gain that would to C accrue
Had he but done what he didn't do?
So pondering on this secret sealed,
My thoughts skim to another field.
"If only I can raise the dough
Tonight I'll take Her to the show."
I turn to the forgotten sheet,
And try to make my balance meet
With surplus for each needed seat.
Just then the bell, with ringing crashes,
Cold water on my spirits dashes,
And then I know while yet it clashes
That I've flunked.

“Otium dat Vitium”

On June five, nineteen five, was given
A joyous holiday,
A chance for teachers in the school
To hie themselves away
To other schools, and learn by observation
New methods to augment our education.
Now on this selfsame day there came
A circus widely known to fame
Through advertisement of the name
Of “Ringling Brothers’ Greatest Shows,”
Which meet the eye on every side.
How curious the fact now grows
That these two dates should coincide!
And as we passed among the waiting throng,
It seemed as if—of course we must be wrong—
Our well-beloved instructors each were there.
Impossible, we know, and yet we’re sure
That such hallucinations we should cure.
So while we tell of them, we still take care
That we apologise to whomsoe’er
It may concern—for being there.

Crimes of "The Machine"

Early to rise and to put up a bluff,
Will pull you an A if you're wise enough.

You have all heard the poem where Hughes,
Deals out to you five aces
And then expatiate upon
Their lack of saving graces.
Though Hughes himself might fail, an ace
To raise from sleeve or shoes
I'm sure you'll all agree with me
That he can raise the "deuce."

Fonetik Speling

We thot weed lernd tu spel whil in the gramer skuls
Som forte thaozand xsepshuns that go tu pruv the ruls,
But nao we stude kemistre and find that, tu aor joe
X. Y. Z. Rusl maks us spel like "Shutes Real Boy."

"What's in a Name?"

William's such a common name,
So is Willie, too,
Bill or Billy's just the same,
Will would never do.
So when we wish a cognomen
To greet H. William with,
A name that's more specific, then
We simply call him "Smith."

Lim'ricks

There is a young lad named Dwight Winter
Who's achieved a great rep. as a sprinter,
    They say he's a crack
    Though he's ne'er touched a track,
And 'tis best that he never begin ter.

Although we have not kept a diary,
We can answer with ease this inquiry,
    "Is Rhodes strong in reciting?"
    He may be—in writing
But if he's not strong he is why-er-y.

She's the girl with the notable lip,
On her shoulder she carries a chip,
    The politest convention
    Provokes a contention
But Miss Burgin does not "give a rip."

A student in Chemistry I
Found his Exp. wrong the first time t'was done,
    So he doctored the work
    Repetition to shirk,
And an A is the prize that he won.

Now, dear reader, e'er we part,
Here's our hand and here's our heart.
If you don't like our doggerel
Then you can all go and read Shakespeare.

My stallion got kicked on hock and it enlarged. Every one said he was ruined. You advised me to use ABSORBINE. I got two bottles and to-day you can't tell which leg was hurt. It made me $100.00 per bottle. I am much obliged for the advice.

Allow Us to Introduce Ourselves

This handsome volume circulates among "the best people of the city." That suits us exactly. We are producing the "best drinking Coffees and Teas in the city" and we think it quite proper that "the best people" and "the best goods" should be introduced to each other. We furnish samples free of charge; these will prove the truth of this statement.

have been so made and so sold as to command the notice and respect and favor of bicycle rider, dealer and manufacturer who believe in steadfast adherence to quality.

FISK TIRES

never have been made for the "job-lotter," the "bargain counter" or any of the other folk who place price above quality. There have been no "shoddy" Fisks, no "seconds."
